

Statement From the Indigenous Peoples' Initiative Introducing New Board Member Felecia Rottellini

IMMEDIATE RELEASE

December 8, 2020

ARIZONA- The Indigenous Peoples' Initiative is excited to announce the newest member of our governing board board, Mrs. Felecia Rottellini. Felecia Rotellini is a veteran prosecutor and trial attorney who served in Governor Janet Napolitano's cabinet as Superintendent of Banks. She is known for her balanced approach to regulating companies and protecting consumers. She was the 2010 and 2014 Democratic nominee for Arizona Attorney General. Today, she is the Director of Compliance for a multi-state financial services company. Her other day job is Chairwoman of the Arizona Democratic Party. Felecia took the party to new levels of civic engagement through historic wins in 2018 and now she is leading the party to victory in 2020.

President Baca stated, "I am delighted to have the opportunity to work alongside Chairwoman Rotellini. Ms. Rotellini brings years of legal expertise to the IPI as well as a passion to serve fellow arizonans. Through her expertise, partnership, and passion we will be able to forge a better future not only for our Indigenous communities but also our minorities within the state of Arizona and across our nation."
